Military Child Care in Your Neighborhood

Making Quality Community Care Affordable

Fee assistance for military families starting Fall 2019 in Maryland and Virginia

Military Child Care in Your Neighborhood

Get Fee Assistance for Community Child Care

As a military parent, you want access to affordable, quality child care.

When child care is unavailable on the installation, you may be eligible to receive fee assistance through Military Child Care in Your Neighborhood, or MCCYN. The Department of Defense offers fee assistance to reduce the out of pocket expense of child care in the community.

Military Child Care in Your Neighborhood: Details & Eligibility

- Fee assistance supports service members unable to access installation child care services.
- Service members and their families apply for assistance through Child Care Aware® of America.
- Child care providers are state licensed, nationally accredited and have compliant background checks.
- Fee assistance paid to eligible providers are based on the service member's Total Family Income, or TFI.

More Options for Military Families: A New Initiative, MCCYN-PLUS

MCCYN is expanding to MCCYN-PLUS, starting in Maryland and Virginia in Fall 2019. The expansion will provide the opportunity for community child centers that are enrolled and advancing in the Quality Rating and Improvement System, or QRIS, for Maryland EXCELS and Virginia Quality. The expansion will be a two year pilot that will offer more available quality child care options for military families.
